

Training Programme on Inclusive Monitoring and Evaluation of Development Projects

The quest for value-added outputs and outcomes has led to stakeholder centric processes that take cognizance of the multi-actor environs of development projects. Inclusive approaches seeking functional participation of all key stakeholders mark the philosophy of learning and adaptive management. The idea of participation has been widely adopted at the local level to make development more effective and sustainable and to empower people to manage their own development.

The advent of PRA led to development of methodologies and tools that facilitate informed stakeholder engagement at all stages of the project. Concurrently, the conventional monitoring and evaluation approach have given way to process and learning oriented Participatory Monitoring and Evaluation (PM&E) approaches. However, effective facilitation of these Inclusive Monitoring & Evaluation protocols requires development of requisite capacities of project personnel in general and M&E personnel in particular so as to anchor these functions for participatory & iterative learning.

On this premise , Sambodhi is announcing a four-day training programme on Inclusive Monitoring and Evaluation of Development Projects from 17-20 December 2007 at New Delhi. Earlier programmes in the M&E series, have been subscribed by leading agencies and projects in the sector that include UNDP, UNICEF, UNIFEM, UNODC, CRS, Worldvision, Actionaid, PHFI, PSI, CARE, BBC WST, MPRLP etc. The aim of the training is to augment the knowledge and skills of operational-level and middle-level functionaries in various developmental organizations involved in project management and PM&E functions. Specifically, it aims at:
